I. INTRODUCTION

Love is a strange feeling , a burning desire. Love words , love messages are important in a couple, even in a mature couple. When two persons are in love, tender words, gentle messages are crucial to maintain the trust, the good feeling of being in love and being loved by the person who cares and worry for you. Love messages are words uttered to the one you cherish and want to spend the rest of your life with.

II. LITERATURE REVIEW

Love stories in English literature: Romeo and Juliet, Antony and Cleopatra, Layla and Majnun Tristan and Isolde, Wuthering Heights ,Odysseus and Penelope , Gone with the wind, Odysseus and Penelope
Love stories , with lovely words have been flourishing in literature. Oza (2019) describes several types of love stories . There is the Eternal love of Romeo and Juliet , a tragedy by William Shakespeare. This is a tragic tale of two teenagers from two feuding families who fall in love at first sight and then marry, become true lovers and then risk it all for their love. Their "untimely deaths" ultimately unite their feuding households. There is the tragic love of Antony and Cleopatra: based on a true story is one of the most memorable, intriguing and moving love of all times. The story of these two historical characters had later been dramatized by William Shakespeare and is still staged all over the world. They fell in love at first sight and their relationship put the country of Egypt in a powerful position. But their love affair outraged the Romans who were wary of the growing powers of the Egyptians. Despite all the threats, Anthony and Cleopatra got married. It is said that while fighting a battle against Romans, Antony got false news of Cleopatra's death. Shattered, he fell on his sword. When Cleopatra learned about Antony's death, she was shocked. And she took her own life (Oza,2019). There is the unattainable love of Layla and Majnun which was written by Nizami of Ganje and inspired by an Arab legend, this love story has been told and retold for centuries. There is the Jealous Love of "Othello", a great work of William Shakespeare, as a play about jealousy. Othello, a heroic black general in the service of Venice, appoints Cassio and not Iago as his chief lieutenant. Jealous of Othello's success and envious of Cassio, Iago plots Othello's downfall by falsely implicating Othello's wife, Desdemona, and Cassio in a love affair. With the unwitting aid of Emilia, his wife, and the willing help of Roderigo, a fellow malcontent, Iago carries out his plan. Making use of a handkerchief belonging to Desdemona and found by Emilia when Othello has unwittingly dropped it, Iago persuades Othello that Desdemona has given the handkerchief to Cassio as a love token. Iago also induces Othello to eavesdrop on a conversation between himself and Cassio that is in fact about Cassio's mistress, Bianca, but which Othello is led to believe concerns Cassio's infatuation with Desdemona. These slender "proofs" confirm what Othello has been all too inclined to believe—that, as an older black man, he is no longer attractive to his young white Venetian wife. Overcome with jealousy, Othello kills Desdemona. When he learns from Emilia, too late, that his wife is blameless, he asks to be remembered as one who "loved not wisely but too well" and kills himself (Britannica, 2024). There is the lost love of Tristan and Isolde. It is a story from medieval times during the reign of King Arthur. According to this Celtic Folk lore, Isolde was the daughter of the King of Ireland. She was betrothed to King Mark of Cornwall. King Mark sent his nephew, Tristan, to Ireland to escort Isolde back to Cornwall. During the voyage, Isolde and Tristan fell in love. Isolde did marry King Mark of Cornwall, but could not help but love Tristan. The love affair continued after the marriage. When King Mark finally learned of the affair, he forgave Isolde, but Tristan was banned from Cornwall. Tristan went to Brittany. There he met Iseult of Brittany. He was attracted to her because of the similarity of her name to his true love. He married her, but did not consummate the marriage because of his love for the "true" Isolde. After falling ill, he sent for Isolde in the hope that she would be able to cure him. If she agreed to come, the returning ship's sails would be white, or the sails would be black if she did not agree. Iseult, seeing the white sails, lied to Tristan and told him that the sails were black. He died of grief before Isolde could reach him. Isolde also died. There is the time-less love of Wuthering Heights: In one of the oldest heart wrenching classics where Heathcliff rejected in love, plans revenge on the two families he believes has ruined him. The desperate love: Orpheus and Eurydice story is an ancient Greek tale. Orpheus fell deeply in love with and married Eurydice, a beautiful nymph. They were very much in love and very happy together. Aristaeus, a Greek God of land and agriculture, became quite fond of Eurydice, and actively pursued her. The longing love of Odysseus and Penelope: This Greek pair after being torn apart, waited twenty long years to be reunited. War takes Odysseus away shortly after his marriage to Penelope. Although she has little hope of his return, she resists the 108 suitors who are anxious to replace her husband. Odysseus is equally devoted, refusing a beautiful sorceress's offer of everlasting love and eternal youth, so that he might return home to his wife and son. The Passionate love of Gone with the Wind is the love and hate relationship between Scarlett O'Hara and Rhett Butler

III. DISCUSSION

The holy bible also mentions of love words and love between two persons who want to get married.

Mark 10:7-9 New International Version (NIV)

7 'For this reason a man will leave his father and mother and be united to his wife,

8 and the two will become one flesh. 'So they are no longer two, but one flesh.

9 Therefore what God has joined together, let no one separate.'

IV. CONCLUSION

Far too many times there is the changing visage of partners, particularly from men. Before wedding there is one visage, the visage of love, romance, lovely words and after wedding, there is no more love words, there is no caring just violence and insults. This twisting saga are errors to avoid withing a mature couple who are in love and want to spend the rest of their loves together and have more children. Writing lovely words, words of care, gentleness forms part of the duties of husbands and wives to maintain the flame of their love. Through love communications, even the hardest difficulties can be tackled together.
